

I interpret a constitutionally free press to mean access and broadcast of information to the American public to provide for an informed and diverse citizenry, not that media organizations should be free to operate in their best interests regardless of the public interest. My convictions are strengthened by the appalling jingoistic coverage American news has been offering, inherently obligated to the Pentagon and the administration. Keep the ownership regulations in place!